— CLINICAL METALS TESTING —
ONSITE CERTIFIED CLINICAL LABORATORY

Mercury Tri-Test®

Quicksilver Scientific's CLIA-certified laboratory specializes in advanced mercury speciation analysis using the Mercury Tri-Test. This test utilizes patented advanced technology that separates methyl mercury from inorganic mercury and measures each independently. Samples of blood, urine, and hair are taken to help practitioners and patients understand the magnitude and source of mercury exposure, as well as the body's ability to eliminate it.

Blood Metals Panel

Using state-of-the-art inductively coupled plasma/mass spectroscopy, the Blood Metals Panel screens a total of 16 elements to show elevated exposure or imbalances in whole blood. This test includes testing of the nutrient elements Calcium, Copper, Lithium, Magnesium, Manganese, Molybdenum, Selenium, and Zinc; and toxic metals Antimony, Arsenic, Cadmium, Lead, Mercury, and potentially toxic metals: Cobalt, Silver, and Strontium.

Practitioner Combined Test

The Mercury Tri-Test is the most comprehensive mercury test available. The Blood Metals Panel tests for 16 nutrients and toxic elements. Both tests can be used together for advanced screening.

THE NANOPARTICLE DIFFERENCE

Quicksilver Scientific specializes in liposomal and nanoemulsion dietary supplements to support better absorption*
Quicksilver Delivery Systems® improves upon basic nanoparticle technology with smaller, more stable particles made from the highest-quality ingredients. The difference is literally clear, our liquid products have a clarity that can only be achieved with particles small enough to begin absorbing as soon as they hit your mouth, bypassing digestion constraints and allowing for optimal bioavailability of ingredients.*

WHAT ARE LIPOSOMES & NANOEMULSIONS?

Liposomes and nanoemulsions are microscopic single-to-multi-layer spheres made of phospholipids and house nutrients within their aqueous core.

PARTICLE SIZE MATTERS

Our nanoparticles range between 20-70nm, below the industry standard of 100nm.*

BIOAVAILABILITY OF INGREDIENTS

Our liposomes and nanoemulsions begin absorbing as soon as they hit the mouth, diffusing through cell membranes for rapid and superior delivery of ingredients.*

HIGHEST QUALITY

We use high-tech equipment, rigorous and iterative processes, and tight particle size controls resulting in the highest quality and consistency with every batch.

COST EFFECTIVE

Less is more with quality nanoparticle delivery. Better absorption and uptake of ingredients means lower dosing compared to tinctures or capsules.
